

Reflect Reconciliation Action Plan

(November 2018 – June 2020)

Artist's biography

Beverley, born in 1955, in Gnowangerup, WA is a Noongar Aboriginal. She began her training in the late 1980's at Marribank, Katanning.

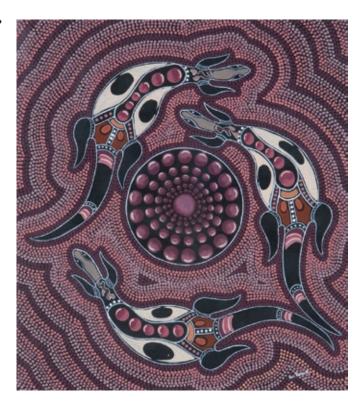

She is a versatile artist, who paints traditional Aboriginal stories and legends; relating in particular to the natural environment and often using animals as central subjects. The stories she tells through her paintings have been handed down to her by her Noongar Aboriginal Elders.

Animals in Aboriginal culture are a significant part of the teaching of young people. Animals and their habits provide important lessons in life. They are also an important food source and as such, are respected as sustainers of life and conveyors of knowledge.

Aboriginal people also study animals to learn about which plants and seeds are edible. Beverley often depicts the mother lizard teaching her young how to forage for food. The Aboriginal people use this symbolic narrative and image to emphasize the importance of parenting and child rearing.

The lizard and snake represent two main sources of life, food and water. The snake is believed to lead the Aboriginal people to water and the lizard to food. The lizard is also often coupled with the turtle, as the lizard is a natural predator of the turtle eggs and has come in search of them as they prepare to leave the nest and head towards the water after hatching.

Keeping the balance of the land is very important to the Aboriginal people as the natural environment is their source of food, water, shelter and spiritual well being. It is through the teaching of the animals that Aboriginal people learn to live in harmony with nature. Through committing to this vision, we hope that everyone will enjoy the benefits of a connected and thriving Victoria Park.

Welcome to Noongar culture

Kaya, Wandjoo! Nidja Noongar Boodjar noonook djinanginy. Ngalak kadadj ngaalang nedigar wer boordiya koora-koora wer yey!

Welcome! This is Noongar Country you are seeing. We acknowledge our ancestors and Elders from long ago until today.

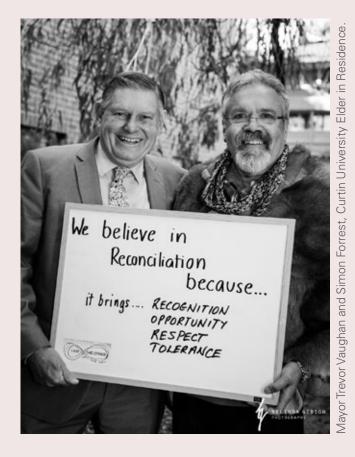

The Town of Victoria Park acknowledges and pays respect to the original custodians of the land upon which we are located – the Whadjuk people of the Noongar nation. We owe a debt of gratitude to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islanders who preceded us and who have a deep, spiritual connection to land and place. May we walk in reconciliation to share, learn and grow together.

Mayor's address

There is no reconciliation without acknowledging the mistakes of the past. It is with genuine reflection and ownership of the role that colonisers played in the lives of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islanders who came before us, that allows us to build respectful relationships and opportunities for an engaged and empowered community.

This Reflect Reconciliation Action Plan (RAP) was drafted in consultation with the Town's Aboriginal Engagement Advisory Group, and outlines strategies to foster greater awareness and learning between members of our wider community and Aboriginal people. The process is a journey for the long-term, towards a shared future.

We thank all who have contributed to this Reflect RAP, which will be reviewed annually, so that we can account for our actions and achievements. Through committing to this vision, we hope that everyone will enjoy the benefits of a connected and thriving Victoria Park.

Aboriginal Engagement Advisory Group Statement:

The Town of Victoria Park celebrates its first Reflect RAP.

We are pleased to see strategies in place that support opportunities to strengthen our community, and build pride and respect with the wider community.

We thank the Town for walking with us, and for recognising the importance and significance of reconciliation. We seek to grow in trust, respect and knowledge with the community of Victoria Park.

History and significant sites

Connection to Country

For thousands of years Noongar people have resided on and had cultural connection to the booja – land. Everything in our vast landscape has meaning and purpose. We speak our own language and have our own lore and customs. The lore is characterised by a strong spiritual connection to country. This means caring for the natural environment and for places of significance. Our lore relates to ceremonies, and to rituals for hunting and gathering when food is abundant and in season. Connection to booja is passed on through our stories, art, song and dance. Noongar people not only survived European colonisation but we thrived as family groups sought to assert our rights to our booja. For Noongar people, the south-west of Western Australia is ngulla booja our country.

Archaeological evidence dates Aboriginal culture as the oldest living culture in the world.

The Swan River (Derbarl Yerrigan) on the banks of the Town of Victoria Park plays a key part in Aboriginal spirituality and mythology, the significance of 'place' and as a provider of wkey resources.

Artefacts demonstrate the importance of the Derbal Yerrigan for fishing, shellfish gathering, meeting places and crossing points.

The Department of Aboriginal Affairs identifies the following significant sites as registered within the Town of Victoria Park:

- Swan River mythological
- Burswood Island ceremonial camp
- Burswood Island Camp camp
- Burswood Island artefacts/scatter and water source
- Wadjup ceremonial, camp, meeting place, named place

In addition to registered sites, there will be others referenced in the area from oral and written stories, archives, journalism, academic and historical publications. It is this list that the Town, together with the Aboriginal Engagement Advisory Group, hopes to identify. Commencing the journey to compile and document these important sites will help to inform us and reclaim our valuable Aboriginal heritage.

Our community

The Town is located immediately south-east of Perth, approximately five kilometres from the Perth CBD.

Total land area is 18 square kilometres, comprising seven suburbs: Bentley, Burswood, Carlisle, East Victoria Park, Kensington, Lathlain, St James, Victoria Park and Welshpool.

At the 2016 Census, the Town's population was estimated at 36,755 with 525 Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander residents (being 1.5 per cent of its total population). By 2036, the Town's total population is expected to grow to 56,000. The Town is largely residential, with some educational (including Curtin University), commercial and industrial areas.

The Town identifies as a culturally diverse and dynamic community, fast becoming a restaurant mecca that celebrates many national cuisines, quirky cafes and a unique retail environment. The Town's administration centre, Leisurelife and Aqualife centres and library employs approximately 400 staff, two of whom are Aboriginal staff members.

The Town is committed to long term sustainability and operates within a framework that guides the Town's environmental, economic, social, civic and cultural impact in terms of growth. In 2016 the Town launched a collaborative community project known as Evolve – one of the largest community consultation and engagement projects the Town has undertaken. Evolve's two-year process of engaging with community sought to inform what should be contained within our Strategic Community Plan to best service the needs of our community and to outline its future direction for the next 20 years.

The Town's Strategic Community Plan 2017–2032 sets our future vision as a dynamic place for everyone. This vision seeks to ensure that we:

- are Perth's most empowered and engaged community
- are Perth's premier place for entertainment and entrepreneurship
- lead in sustainability
- put people first in urban design and safety
- are inclusive and connected with a thriving community.

Underpinning this vision are our values that we will:

- be proactive
- have integrity
- be caring
- be innovative.

A key pillar of our mission is to promote sustainable, safe, connected and diverse places for everyone. We are committed to establishing positive relationships that engage in a meaningful way with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people and foster the Town's Strategic Community Plan to work towards:

- a healthy community
- an informed and knowledgeable community
- an empowered community with a sense of pride, safety and belonging
- a place where all people have an awareness and appreciation of arts, culture, education and heritage.

The Town established an Aboriginal Engagement Advisory Group in 2013 to build relationships and respect between other Australians and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people. This group informs and advises the Town on ways in which we can work together to identify opportunities that meet individual and shared aspirations, drive equality, and build sustainability in our local community.

In 2016 the Aboriginal Engagement Advisory Group embarked on the development of an inaugural Reconciliation Action Plan (RAP) to provide a framework for the Town to build further on respect, relationships and opportunities.

Our Reflect RAP

This Reflect RAP is a document that outlines actions to build strong relationships and enhance respect between Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and other Australians. A RAP impacts the whole of the Town, and directly affects all service delivery areas.

Our Reflect RAP enables us to work together to achieve individual and shared aspirations, and to drive greater equality and sustainability within the local community.

The rich cultural heritage that the Town represents provides opportunities for residents to engage with, promote and learn from these cultures – this engagement further enhances the bonds and vibrancy of the community. In 2011, 27 per cent of people in the Town came from countries where English is not their first language, resulting in Council establishing the new role of Community Development Team. The 2016 Census continues to reflect this figure, and demonstrates our diverse population. The Community Development team seeks to establish links with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islanders in order to foster inclusivity and a greater sense of community.

Our partnerships/current activities

The Mayor, Deputy Mayor and Chief Executive Officer of the Town champion the Reflect RAP, sitting as active members on the Aboriginal Engagement Advisory Group, as well as two Councillors. The Community Development Team facilitates the delivery of initiatives in combination with the Aboriginal Engagement Advisory Group.

The Town's Aboriginal Engagement Strategy Group is instrumental in delivering diverse projects in partnership with a range of stakeholders to acknowledge and celebrate Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander and other cultures. These include (but are not limited to):

- Aboriginal flags are flown in front of the Administration building and in the Memorial Gardens of the Town. Welcome to Country is performed at key events in the Town.
- In celebration of NAIDOC Week 2016 the Town through our local Aboriginal Engagement Strategy Group partnered with RUAH Community Services, Victoria Park Centre for the Arts, Richmond Wellbeing, and start-up enterprise Know Your Nation to deliver a three-phase program of story-telling, exhibition and public forums.

- The Know Your Nation project invited older community members from Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander and the many different cultures that make up our Town, to share and record their stories and anecdotes of their past, across the generations. These stories were recorded in audio and print, culminating in a photographic exhibition and public launch with participants at the Victoria Park Centre for the Arts. This exhibition is able to continue to be used across the Town to foster ongoing opportunities for recognition and celebration.
- Know Your Community sprang from the 2016 Know Your Nation project that included a sixweek program for the community to come together at the Victoria Park Centre for the - Arts in the evenings with a fire pit, yarning circle, story-telling, free Rotary barbeque (including Halal food), guest performers from a variety of cultures, art activities, and educational speakers.

- Know Your Community's success is now providing a broad range of services for the community. Victoria Park Centre for the Arts, Richmond Wellbeing and the Town are partnering to provide a range of Know Your Community branded workshops, initiatives and events which are community led and inclusive.
- Potential of the Town with a photographic poster displayed in businesses and organisations across the Town (including McDonald's, Curtin University and the West Coast Eagles). The posters featured an Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal person across a variety of industries (e.g. WA Police Force, sports and the arts), displaying a shared statement on why they believe in reconciliation.

- In 2017 local schools participated in a tree planting and bush medicine tour at local Kensington bushland, with Aboriginal Elders, the Mayor, Friends of Kensington Bushland group and Town staff to foster greater understanding and celebration of Aboriginal
- culture and respect for the land, followed by an Aboriginal themed lunch.
- Links to primary and secondary schools were further developed in 2017 and beyond, through projects that focus on Aboriginal arts, workplace tours, development of a bush medicine community garden and the production of a NAIDOC video Our Languages Matter with Elders and Aboriginal youth. This video is hosted on the Town's website and can be used at community events, and has been made available to schools for educational purposes.
